chmen Provided For-The Farmers' Alliance and Labor-Day. Nonrolk, August 27 .- In noticeable contrast with the Democratic administration is the crowding of the navy-yard with neto the exclusion of white men, even many white Republicans, who apply in for leave to toil" but are shoved for influential blacks, the colored rothers who have "a pull" in the church g his seat in Congress. Later on it is ought they will be so thick as not to be ie to keep out of each others way sarly all the accidents that happen now e among the colored laborers.

A WRITE MAN'S GOVERNMENT. When the Democrats had charge the only negroes in the yard were the messengers and servants of the officers, and white Republicans were always called in in preference to the colored Republicans, for hereabouts the Democrats believe that this Government is "a white man's government." The force at work in the yard is being gradually increased daily and a number of mechanics and laborers went in this morning. Of course these men are employed mainly on the new ships. Quite a thousand men in the different departments are now on the rolls of the yard.

FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

Disgraceful Republican Proceedings-The Lie Passed-A Blow Given, [By telegraph to the Dispatch.]

Washington, August 27.—The resolution offered by Mr. Plumb instructing the Committee on Rules to issue such orders as will wholly prevent the sale of spirituous, vinous, and malt liquors in the Senate wing of the Capitol was taken up, and on motion of Mr. Sherman was referred to the Committee on Rules.

THE TARIFF BILL, AGAIN. The tariff bill was then (at 11:15 A. M.)
taken up, the question being on the substitute offered by Mr. McPherson yesterday for schedule "D," "wood and manufactures of wood."
Mr. Davis addressed the Senate.

MR. DAVIS AND SOUTH AMERICA.

MR. DAVIS AND SOUTH AMERICA.

In the course of a set speech upon the general subject of the tariff bill Mr. Davis advocated placing farmers' binding-twine on the free list and made an argument affirming the desirability of unrestricted commercial relations with the sister republics to the southward.

Mr. McPherson's substitute for the wood schedule and some amendments offered by Mr. Plumb to some of its paragraphs went over without action, leaving the whole schedule still open.

THE TORACCO SCHEDULE.

The sugar schedule was also passed over informally and the tobacco schedule (F) was taken up. The question as to the duty on Sumatra tobacco was discussed by Messrs. McPherson, Vest, Carlisle, Pasco, Call, and Gorman on the Democratic side, and Messrs. Aldrich, Platt, Hiscock, and Spooner on the Republican side. The amendment on which the discussion proceeded was one offered by Mr. Vance to reduce the duty on leaf tobacco suitable for cigar-wrappers (if not stemmed) from $2 per pound to 75 cents, and if stemmed from $2.75 to $1 per pound.

Mr. Vance's amendment was rejected without the yeas and nays.

A PROPOSITION TOUCHING WRAPPERS.

A PROPOSITION TOUCHING WRAPPERS A PROPOSITION TOUCHING WRAPPERS.

Mr. Pasco offered an amendment to the proviso in paragraph 227. The amendment is that if 10 per cent. instead of any other portion of the tobacco imported in any bale, box, or package shall be suitable for cigar-wrappers the whole quantity shall be dutiable as cigar-wrappers. The amendment was advocated by Messrs. Gorman and Colquitt. The amendment was rejected—yeas 20, navs 29—a strict party vote, Mr. Plumb voting in the negative.

No amendment was offered to any of the four other paragraphs of the tobacco schedule.

Then Schedule G—agricultural products and provisions—was reached. No amendments from the Democratic side were successful. An amendment of the Finance Committee to reduce the duty on barley from 30 to 25 cents per bushel was withdrawn and the House rate stands, and, upon motion of Mr. Aldrich, the Finance Committee's amendment reducing the duty on barley malt from 45 to 40 cents per bushel was disagreed to, leaving the House rate to stand.

This brought the Senate to the paragraph about rice. Without entering on a discussion about it the Senate proceeded to executive business, and at 5 o'clock adjourned.

After prayer by the Chaplain, Mr. McClammy, of North Carolina, made the point of order of no quorum present. The Speaker directed the doorkeepers to notify members in the committee-rooms that their attendance was required in the House, but even this movement brought into the chamber but 85 members. A call of the House was ordered. The call disclosed the presence of 163 members, and the House waited patiently for ten minutes, until the three absentees necessary to make a quorum reported them selves to the Clerk. Mr. Brosius moved that all further proceedings under the call be dispensed with.

The components of the lard bill, led by Mr. Mason, ordered the yeas and mays in order to consume time. The motion was agreed to—yeas, 146; nays, 21. The Clerk then proceeded to read the Joarpal in the usual abridged form, when Mr. Mason demanded its reading in extenso.

TORNER THE ICE-MAN.

Mr. Turner, of New York, again set out on his task of consuming time, taking as his text the Cannon resolution of yesterday. Though he proclaimed himself to be in good voice he was unable to proceed for more than ten minutes in denunciation of the resolution, when he ceased and yielded to Mr. McAdoo, of New Jersey, who hesped denunciation and ridicule upon Mr. Cannon's statesmanship and historical knowledge and his love for the farmer.

A STORMY SCENE.

Then ensued the stormiest scene of the session. Mr. Cannon rose to reply. He admitted that he was not a great statesman, and also admitted the superiority of the gentleman from New Jersey in that respect. His friend abounded in one thing and that was wind, and, under pressure, it went out. [Loud laughter.]

There was instantly great confusion and disorder in the hall.

Mr. McAdoo shouted out that he wanted the words to go upon the Record as a specimen of Mr. Cannon's vulgarity.

THE WITHDEAWAL OF LADIES SUGGESTED. A STORMY SCENE.

THE WITHDRAWAL OF LADIES SUGGESTED. Mr. Caruth, of Kentucky, suggested the propriety of clearing the galleries of ladies, while Mr. Enloe was clamoring for recognition on a question of order.

Again Mr. McAdoo shouted out to Mr. Cannon: "If you can afford to let that go on record as a specimen of your stable-jockey style I can afford to leave it there. I cannot indulge in blackguardism with you.

MR. CANNON BITTERLY DENOUNCED.

Its mutterings were heard when Mr. Mason, coming down the aisle near which Mr. Cannon was sitting, in a tone audible only to those who were in his immediate vicinity, began to denounce that gentleman in no measured words. He declared that if Mr. Cannon's family were in the gallery he would not have uttered the words he had. His (Mason's) family were in the gallery and he would not sit tamely by and hear them insulted.

THE LIE PASSED, IT IS SAID. THE LIE PASSED, IT IS SAID.

Some gentlemen in the vicinity say that the lie was passed, but before anything more serious occurred the storm broke out in another quarter.

THE LIE PASSED—A BLOW GIVEN.

Mr. Wilson, of Washington, taking occasion to defend Mr. Cannon's action, aroused the ire of Mr. Beckwith, of New Jersey. Hot words were exchanged, the lie was passed, and a blow was given. Friends seized both men and finally quieted them, while every Democrat was on his feet thoroughly enjoying the spectacle of the femily country. the family quarrel. PRIZE-RING RULES SUGGESTED.

Mr. Enloe suggested that the House should adopt the London prize-ring rules. It was many minutes before order was restored, and it required vigorous wielding of the Speaker's gavel before the Clerk could proceed with the roll-call. The decision of the Chair was sustained—yeas, 133, pays 78. 103: navs. 78.

MR. CANNON APOLOGIZES. MR. CANNON APOLOGIZES.

Mr. Cannon then rose and briefly apologized for the remark which he had made while smarting under the characterization of Mr. McAdoo, and which he had not intended in the sense which had been placed upon it. But he had thought it legitimate to criticise the action of the New Jersey gentleman since he has been a member of the House, having in mind that during the last Congress he made a speech against the Mills bill and had voted for it, and thinking that he was somewhat noted for talking one way and voting another, he (Cannon) made the remark from that standpoint was apt.

FOR SPEEDY PASSAGE OF THE LAND BILL. FOR SPEEDY PASSAGE OF THE LAND BILL.

Mr. Cannon then proceeded to argue in favor of the speedy passage of the lard bill. One thing, he felt, rested upon every member, and that was to keep a quorum here. This bill was in such a parliamentary porition that without unanimous consent no other business could be done during the rest of Congress until it was passed or defeated, and under the grace of God, so far as his vote and voice were concerned as one member, no business would be done until this bill was killed or passed by a vote of the House. [Applause on the Republican side.]

The Journal was then approved—yeas, 109; nays, 58.

Megro's Terrible Accident—Struck Oil Again—New Factory.

[Special telegram to the Dispateo.]

Greensbore', N. C., August 27.—A negro excursionist fell from the platform of a Cape Fear and Yadkin-Valley train this evening near here. The train was running forty miles an hour. The negro was picked up insensible. His skull, one arm, and one leg were fractured.

The oil excitement is unabated. A new vein was struck this morning at thirty-two feet.

THE SPEAKER'S LAED-BILL DECISION.

The Speaker then stated that the vote recurred upon the question of sustaining the decision of the Speaker holding that the lard bill was unfinished business.

Mr. McAdoo rose to a question of privilege. The gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Cannon) has made what he called an explanation, but what he (McAdoo) and those around him construed as an additional attack upon him. He asked two minutes in which to reply. Consent was given, but at the Speaker's request Mr. McAdoo withheld his remarks for the present. On sustaining the decision the House was once more left without a quorum.

Tum.
The two minutes granted to Mr. McAdoo were then accorded him.
MR. M'ADOO SCORES MB. CANNON.

MR. M'ADOO SCORES MR. CANNON.

Mr. McAdoo said that in the judgment of himself and the most conservative men around him Mr. Cannon had not purged himself of the suspicion of having injected vulgarity into the debate. That so-called explanation was ingenious and not ingenuous, and when the gentleman went beyond his original onslaught and made an additional charge as to his inconsistency, it took away all suspicion that he was making an explanation to the House. A gentleman was justified under no circumstances in ever descending to vulgar, indecent, and blackguard remarks, or remarks that could be construed as such.

M. AMTIER OF TASTE.

Mr. Funston, of Kansas: He did not do it.
Mr. Hayes, of Iowa: That is a question of taste.

Continuing, Mr. McAdoo said when a man did that he had by the simple law of gravity but sought his own level. He could have no controversy with such a man.

Mr. Cannon said that he could add nothing to what he bad said. He had disclaimed the intention of saying anything that would wound the feelings or propriety of the most delicate. He had stated what he had to state in good faith. He could state nothing further. He was willing that the matter should rest there, and if, after that, any man in the House or out of the House insisted against his protest in making a remark that could be found anywhere in polite literature and had been before made without criticism on the floor of the House he could only say, "Evil to him that evil thinks."

Mr. Enloe: In what polite literature is your coinage found? [Laughter.] AT THE END OF HIS TETHER.

your coinage found? [Laughter.]

A call of the House was ordered and disclosed the presence of 198 members.

A motion to dispense with further proceedings was lost—yeas, 57; nays, 115.

Mr. Brosius, of Pennsylvanna, offered a resolution for the arrest of absentees, and directing the Sergeant-at-Arms to telegraph for absent members and revoking all leaves of absence except those granted on account of illness, The resolution was agreed to, and the House adjourned.

ANOTHER SLUGGING MATCH

Fight in the Eighth Round.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

PETERBURG, VA., August 27.—The tenround glove contest between Kelly of New Orleans and Layton of New York, which took place at Granite Grove, in Dinwiddie county, attracted a large crowd to that place. Kelly was the favorite from the beginning and it was very hard to get bets at odds on Layton. Layton forced the fighting from the start and soon won a host of friends by the rushes which he made during the rounds.

Mr. James Turner, the referee, awarded the fight to Kelly, his second claiming a foul during the eighth round. There was some kicking at the decision of the referee, but it was thought by the majority present that it was a just one.

"You ought to argue with stable-jockeys. That is your size."
Finally Mr. Enloe was recognized on his words be taken down.
Mr. Cannon: Oh, if it annoys you I will withdraw it.
After brief discussion the Speaker overruled the point of order on the ground id that Mr. Enloe's proper course would have been to call the gentleman to order, and not to raise a point of order.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE Of Mr. Frank L. Bond from His Home in Tarboro', N. C.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.] (Special telegram to the Dispatch.)

Scotland Neck, N. C., August 27.—Mr. Frank L. Bond, a well-to-do citizen of Tarboro', and about seventy years old, strangely disappeared yesterday morning. Some time before day he got out of bed in his night-clothes and left the house. No one took special notice of the matter until his long absence from the house caused excitement in his family, and a search was made immediately, but he was not found. A reward has been offered for his body dead or alive. It is thought that he is drowned in the Tar river. Mental aberration is supposed to be the cause of his strange action.

Pointer Dog and Mother Duck.

(Forest and Stream.)

Eli is a thoroughbred pointer, a native Texan, and resides in Burleson county, of the Lone-Star State, and justly enjoys the honor and distinction in his locality of being an expert in never failing to point out the woodcock, quail, and jacksnipe. From the beginning of November to the end of February he is on duty in the sporting-field, and the remainder of the year reposes in the shade about the house or slumbers in the fresh-ploughed earth about the farm, apparently oblivious to the exciting sport of the past or that which awaits him in the future. He is always courteous, and when loitering about the farm seems to keep a "ceaseless vigil" toward his master, in testimony whereof he is ever ready to bring back the rolling hat when carried away by a puff of wind. But the most deceptive and exciting episode in Eli's history now begins:

A few days ago, just after I had passed through the farm gate on my way to dinner, I heard Eli spring some game to my left. I looked and saw something decidedly larger than a quail just ahead of him and coming directly toward me. I stood purfectly still and they came within two Negroes Remaining Over to Watch the Whites—The Color Line Being Strongly Drawn.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

RALMON, N. C., August 27.—The political excitement is now higher than any time this year. Delegates to the Republican State Convention to-morrow are arriving here on every train, and most of the delegates to the Negro State Convention of yesterday have remained here to watch the white Republicans. The color line is being drawn by some white Republicans and line is the dog state of the dog for I knew he would come back it with the dog came, tongue out, spatial the dog came, tongue out, spatial the dog came, tongue out, spatial the dog came, tongue out of one to wast till the dog came, tongue out, spatia

This insult, linked with his ambition to catch her, gave him new courage, and out they pulled for the third heat. They came toward the house this time, and for 200 yards I could see duck and dog as if fastened nose and tail. The impression left was that the dog had the tips of the duck's tail pinched in his front teeth, knowing that if he relaxed his hold for a better one he would lose the bird, and that a slender mouthful was better than none, and that he would hold on to it if he had to run to do it. Again I waited a long time for Eli to come back. At the end of perhaps twenty minutes I started to the house, and about 300 yards away I met him, completely exhausted and willing enough to go to he house with me.

There is no laughter so musical, none so innocent, none so evidently spontaneous as that of little children. The grimmest misanthrope must admit its charm. As we grow older, though we be still of hilarious tendencies, there is no longer any music, or only of the tongs and tin-kettle kind, in our cachinnations. Some of us, and they, perhaps, not the least genial, having realized how literally true is Schiller's "Ernst ist das Leben," finds a difficulty in getting out any vocal hilarity at all. We may be laughing inwardly, but the sound we are capable of emitting is the mere ghost of what we could compass in earlier years. Others again carry their risibility with them into extreme old age. Tottering on the verge of their final exit they yet laugh with the loudest. It is partly hereditary, this patriarchal guffaw, for a laugh is sometimes handed down from father to son, like a nose or a sneeze. Carlyle mentions that he himself enjoyed an inheritance of this nature, and this no doubt accounts in great measure for his intolerance of those to whom an audible expression of mirth has been denied. Had he been one whose utterances, cachinnatory and other, were not habitually made with all pedals down and all stops out, we should belike have heard nothing of the man who cannot laugh. And the laughter of maturity, is it, after all, so very lovable and grateful to the ear? Mark attentively the notes of merriment as they issue from a middle-aged larynx. Is it possible that this succession of short barks, this alternation of casps and wheezings, really connotes an irrepressible gayety within? Are these horrible distortions of a responsible householder's features, in sober truth, a sure sign that he is vastly amused? If so it be, then they, the fountain of whose mirth is hermetically sealed, are not wholly without consolation.

Nevertheless, it cannot be denied that for getting on in the world a cherry laugh is a valuable ally. We are apt to think well of, and to befriend, if necessary, the man who never fails to see the point
